3. Reading from the Poet Laureate

An October mist the Bodleian kissed
As though with gentleness to say
"Behold no more life beyond that door
-you must make haste on your essay."

What a foolish fog to try to rob
Me of my procrastination
With such joy outside, why remain confined?
The autumnal Ox, my destination.

My reading beckoned but, well, I reckoned
Stepping outside was nought to fear.
Essays come weekly, albeit quite bleakly
But this season just once every year.

I returned that eve, it quite hard to believe
Just how time had become much tighter.
With a weary sigh, realised then I
My essay would be an all-nighter.

Michaelmas Term 2017 Budget

This JCR Notes:

- 1) Fiscal responsibility demands a budget
- 2) Good accounting demands a budget
- 3) The constitution demands a budget

This JCR Believes:

- 1) It is good to be fiscally responsible

This JCR Resolves:

- 1) To pass the following budget for MT17:

Budget Areas	Amount Budgeted
DOMESTIC	£120.00
NEWSPAPERS	£600.00

SFQ

Tyron: Is 600 pounds not a lot for newspapers?

Alice: This is more appropriate for debate

Shahryar: Do Equal Opps Welfare events go under Equal Opps or Welfare budget?

Tom: For you to decide with Rob and Abi

Rob: If you need more cash we can give you some from our budget

Pete: Will we be getting a newspaper survey?

Tom: Yes, stay tuned

Shiv: Will the BC rep get a budget?

Tom: I can't budget money for a non-committee position

Putting mystery money to good use

This JCR Notes

- 1) That we have ~£4k in charities levy money that has not been donated
- 2) That we have attempted to find out its original purpose but have been unable to find out what it was meant for
- 3) That homelessness is a big Oxford issue

This JCR Believes

- 1) That the money is very useless just sitting in the college bank account
- 2) That money raised for charity should be donated to charity

3) That we should use the ~£4k to help homelessness in Oxford

This JCR Resolves

- 1) To mandate the Charities Officer to ask homelessness charities the most efficient use of the money
- 2) To feedback at the earliest possible JCR meeting with a variety of options
- 3) To have the JCR vote on said options and then carry out the plan!
