Events

1. Oxford University Scientific Society: Trust, Energy and the Environment: Nuclear, Please, 24/7

Oxford University Scientific Society invites you to our first event of the new term. Our speaker this week is Professor Wade Allison from Oxford University, along with John Lindberg.

Wednesday 18th October 2017 at 20:15
Saskatchewan room, Exeter College

The nature of nuclear energy and what it offers to mankind and the environment have been misrepresented ever since the 1940s. Based on simple scientific and medical evidence the lecture will explain what we now know. The need to establish a new scientific relationship with nature on the basis of this offer is pressing and action should follow.

At the end John Lindberg, speaking from a political perspective, will discuss what we should now do.

Wade Allison is an emeritus professor of physics at Oxford University, and John Lindberg is a nuclear energy advocate who was worked in the Scottish and European Parliaments. More details are available on our website, or on Prof Allison's site.

Price: free for members or £2 on door
Membership (£10 a year or £20 for life) can be purchased on the door
Refreshments will be served afterwards
Contact oxforduniscisoc@gmail.com if interested in meeting the speaker for dinner beforehand (18:30)
See you there!

2. Tuition fees and HE enquiry: student invitation

You're invited: The funding of higher education

Come to our event about the funding of higher education and help inform the House of Lords Economic Affairs Committee inquiry into the economics of higher, further and technical education.

The big issue

“The cost of going to university is increasing, but many graduates do not end up in jobs requiring a degree and will not be able to pay back their loans. This year the total amount of student loans outstanding was £89 billion. This is projected to increase to £500 billion in the mid-2030s and £1 trillion in the late 2040s.” Lord Forsyth of Drumlean, Chairman of the committee

At the event we will be asking you about:

- Your experience and view of tuitions fees
- If higher education provides value for money
- If higher education prepares you for employment

How can you help?

Are you an undergraduate student with experiences and views on tuition fees? If so, come to our event and help shape the inquiry.

Participants will:

- Get a tour of Parliament
- Meet members of the committee to discuss student loans, the way university courses work, and employment for graduates
- Get the chance to speak to staff about careers in Parliament.

When and where?

London

Date: Tuesday 21 November

Time: 3-6pm

Venue: Westminster, London

The event is free to attend, but we want to ensure a diverse range of experiences and views are represented.

To register your interest in attending please complete our survey and we will let you know if you have been selected to attend by the end of October.

Please complete this survey by midnight on Tuesday 24 October 2017.

If you know anyone else who would be interested, please pass on this information.

Expenses

You may claim back the cost of your travel expenses. We'll give you more information when we confirm your place.

What are select committees?

Find out more about select committees, how they affect government policy and how you can get involved.

Careers and Opportunities

1. TPP Recruitment Events

Dear all,

My name is Jacob, and I am an Oxford graduate. I'm writing on behalf of TPP, a cutting-edge software company based in Leeds. We're revolutionising healthcare across the world with our pioneering research and technology solutions, and we're looking for super intelligent, geeky graduates like you for a number of vacancies including our Software Developer and Graduate Analyst roles. We don't require any experience, and we offer an incredible starting salary of £40,000.

We're hosting a drinks reception at LMH on the 17th of October, and it'd be great to see you there. You do not have to book in advance, so you can just turn up if you're available.

Don't worry if you can't make it, as we're hosting a number of other events this term. Details of all of these can be found here.

I hope to see you there,

Best wishes,

Jacob
